Appleton - Thomas, G.F. **Appletons' illustrated railway and steam navigation guide, containing the time-tables of the railways of the United States and the Canadas. Also, one hundred railway maps, together with the monthly account of railways and their progress and anecdotes and incidents of travel, &c, &c. New York, Appleton, July 1868. [12mo. 360 p. Includes ads, indexes to railways and stations, indexes of ticket agents, tourist information, detailed maps for routes of each railroad company, time-tables and connections, time-tables for lake and river steamers, ads for transcontinental steamers, some fare information, hotel information This guide was published semi-monthly, and this issue, for July 1868 contains extremely detailed information on all the railway companies operating in the U.S. and Canada. It is an impressive snapshot of railway travel in North America in 1868. A section, "Railways and their Progress," is intended to provide up-to-date general information for various companies. There is speculation of the effects of the transcontinental railroad, at this point uncompleted, and Asian trade. The guide offers details of how to travel from coast-to-coast, with some stagecoach information . There are international steamer ads and information on travel by ship between NY to Calif. Also a section on California wine production.].
